Vocabulary List

Privacy : Protecting people's data and personal information (also called sensitive information)

Security : Protecting people's devices and the software on them

Digital footprint : Your digital footprint is all the information about you that appears online. This can mean anything from photos, audio, videos and texts to "likes" and comments you post on friends' profiles. Just as your footsteps leave prints on the ground while you walk, what you post online leaves a trail too.

Reputation : The ideas, opinions, impressions, or beliefs that other people have about you—something that you can't be totally sure about but that you usually want to be positive or good

Hacker : A person who uses computers to gain unauthorized access to other people's or organizations' devices and data
