Opera announces the winners of the Wallpaper Showdown

September 12th, 2023

Hey all!

Back in early August we kicked off the Opera Wallpaper Showdown, an exciting competition that let participants splash out their creativity for a chance to win a chunk of a $10,000 prize pool. The occasion was the extension of custom wallpapers to Opera for iOS, which brought the feature to each of our mobile platforms. So we figured we'd celebrate by letting all of our mobile users – around the world and across devices – unleash their own unique artistic flair, and potentially win big while they were at it!

voting ended from the 26th of August to the end of September. Over 50,000 votes were cast during that period, so now it's time to announce our winners!

Receiving the second-most votes was Jordan, who conceived of an extraterrestrial jellyfish floating somewhere in a faraway galaxy. Going a step further, he said that the “beautiful light that jellyfish emit also gives me inspiration – what if there’s actually a galaxy full of stars inside the jellyfish itself? That’d be very cool, right?”

And coming third we have David, whose AI-generated artwork evinces the keywords with which he set forth: calming and gorgeous. Captivated by the elegance of his creation, David related that, “I stopped for a couple of seconds and thought to myself: If this is what AI is capable of now, then I wonder where we’ll be in the future?”

All three of our top winners drew attention to how much they’ve enjoyed the Opera browser on mobile, highlighting especially its speed and customizability. “Starting my customized Opera browser helps me immerse even further into my own world,” said Cerda. “It creates an atmosphere that aligns perfectly with my artistic sensibility. It’s as if the browser becomes an extension of my artistic expression, making my creative work and productivity flow more smoothly. It’s a truly immersive and inspiring experience.”

for iOS – so if any of them grabbed your attention, they will be there for you to enjoy!

We'd like to thank everyone who participated in the contest, which was a wonderful demonstration of just how many talented individuals we have out there using Opera. Keep your eyes peeled for further contests, upgrades, and integrations with your favorite mobile browsers: Opera for Android and Opera for iOS!
