How Is AI Changing Life Sciences? □

AI is no longer just a futuristic concept in life sciences, it is actively reshaping how therapeutics are discovered, how biotech startups scale, and how healthcare ecosystems collaborate. In the first episode of our latest expert series – The Future of Life Sciences, presented by Merck

Canada – industry leaders discuss the tangible impacts, challenges, and future of AI adoption across Canada's biotech and healthcare landscape.

🔊 Meet the Experts:

David D. Jones, Managing Director at Merck Canada: Leading the conversation on value recognition for innovative medicines and strategic cross-sector partnerships.

Martin Enault, Chief Entrepreneur in Residence at Centech Mtl: A veteran entrepreneur driving the next generation of high-potential tech founders and optimizing team productivity through deliberate AI integration.

Handol Kim, Co-Founder and CEO at Variational AI: A pioneer applying generative AI to revolutionize small-molecule drug discovery and accelerate preclinical development.

(Français à suivre) FIFA fever has officially taken over Merck Canada!

Our Wellness Committee brought the World Cup spirit to the office with a celebration full of jerseys, team spirit, and friendly rivalry.

It's a reminder that the same energy we bring to the game, teamwork, passion, and pushing for the win, is what defines our culture here every day.

Good luck to the teams heading into the finals. The excitement is far from over. #MerckCanada

La fièvre de la Coupe du monde s'est officiellement emparée de Merck Canada!

Notre Comité de bien-être a insufflé l'esprit de la Coupe du monde au bureau avec une célébration haute en couleur : chandails d'équipe, esprit d'équipe et rivalité amicale au rendez-vous.

Ça nous rappelle que l'énergie qu'on retrouve sur le terrain, l'esprit d'équipe, la passion et la volonté de gagner, c'est exactement ce qui définit notre culture ici, chaque jour.

Bonne chance aux équipes qui se dirigent vers la finale. L'excitation est loin d'être terminée.

Le mois dernier, des collègues de Merck Canada se sont mobilisés pour Bougeons pour le côlon dans plusieurs villes du pays. Certains ont couru le 5 km, d'autres l'ont marché, et plusieurs étaient simplement là pour encourager et distribuer de l'eau.

Le cancer colorectal demeure un sujet difficile à aborder pour bien des familles, et ce silence peut coûter un temps précieux. Des événements comme celui-ci aident à briser ce tabou, une conversation à la fois et rappellent que le dépistage n'est pas quelque chose à repousser ou à voir comme gênant.

(Français à suivre) We were proud to bring a Merck Canada delegation to the 2026 BIO International Convention — the world's largest and most comprehensive biotechnology gathering. It is also a place where the global life sciences community comes together around a shared purpose: improving lives through innovation.

BIO is always an important moment to reconnect, exchange ideas, and strengthen relationships across the ecosystem. This year was especially energizing, with a full schedule of bilateral meetings and meaningful conversations with delegations from the Ontario, Manitoba, and Nova Scotia governments.

We were also pleased to visit Merck Research Labs, which showcased our research in immunology and efforts to help advance precision medicine. That scientific foundation continues to shape how we think about innovation, partnership, and the future of patient care.

Our team left San Diego feeling inspired by the momentum, collaboration, and shared ambition across the sector.

Nous étions fiers de compter sur une délégation de Merck Canada au congrès international BIO 2026 — le plus important et le plus vaste rassemblement mondial du secteur des biotechnologies, où la communauté internationale des sciences de la vie se réunit autour d'un objectif commun : améliorer la vie des gens grâce à l'innovation.

BIO est toujours une occasion de renforcer les relations au sein de l'écosystème, avec un calendrier bien rempli de rencontres et de représentants des gouvernements de l'Ontario.

Nous avons également découvert nos travaux de recherche en précision. Cette base solide de partenariats et l'avenir de la médecine de précision.
