California Student Data Privacy Certifications. These certifications signify that TechPilot's mobile device management products have been proactively and independently assessed by iKeepSafe, an experienced privacy protection organization.

iKeepSafe Privacy Certifications simplify privacy compliance for education technology vendors and make it easy for schools to identify websites, apps, data management platforms, and other technology products that follow various privacy laws governing student data. Products that carry the iKeepSafe badge provide educators and parents with assurance that the product meets iKeepSafe's standards in the areas of privacy, safety, and security.

TechPilot Labs develops cloud-based mobile device management and Chromebook classroom management products. The company's two key product suites, SchoolMDM and Chrometools, are designed specifically to meet the device management needs of the K-12 market.

"We are pleased to earn these key privacy certifications, showing our commitment to keeping student data safe," said Jarrett Volzer, TechPilot founder and CEO.
