I have used this app for many years. I use Google voice for typing my messages, emails & notes all the time. UNFORTUNATELY the last couple of updates have taken it backwards again, at least for me. It is not picking up my words very well at all & it capitalizes random words in the middle of a sentence. It was very familiar

Hi there, having trouble with Gboard's voice typing accuracy or the microphone? Try re-enabling voice input in Gboard Settings > Voice typing. To learn more about voice typing, visit goo.gle/3IYjLHD. Thanks.

Mostly absolute garbage. I came here from years of SwiftKey. But after they changed to an in-house voice to type system, I just couldn't bear it. But it's only just bad enough there to keep me using this for the time being. what I do like, I can use my Galaxy pen to write in a text field. except it doesn't give you space to make it work. The swipe typing, which is how I usually go, frequently just decides not to detect it. voice recognition on here is pretty awful as well.

Overall I am a pretty big fan of Gboard over the default Samsung keyboard. I do find it frustrating that the built-in dictation has seemingly no way to correct interpretations of spoken names? I have tried entering things into the personal dictionary, sending feedback, all sorts of things to get corrections made to how people's names are actually taken down when spoken. Most of the time I just stop dictating and have to type a name if I know it's going to get it wrong.
